

BNZ Fintech Speaker Series

BNZ's Fintech Speaker Series is a collection of short video episodes, where we sit down and talk to subject matter experts on all things fintech, covering CBDCs, virtual assets, decentralised finance, payments, and more.

Our first two episodes are available here:

Episode 1

Central bank digital currencies

with Robbie Taylor, Manager of Money & Cash Policy at the Reserve Bank of New Zealand

Episode 2

Virtual assets

with Jeremy Muir, Partner, and Bryan Ventura, Senior Associate, of MinterEllisonRuddWatts

“We are at this really unique intersection in the evolution of finance. How money looks and feels, what we do and how we interact with it is all changing. It’s important for us to understand and contribute to these emerging trends and stay connected to the fintech community. That connection and capability is critical for our customers as they evolve.”
